

From recitals through execution, defining confidential information, terms, termination and everything in between, Non-Disclosure Agreements Line by Line takes a typical mutual NDA, breaks it down, and offers critical insights into the language so the reader can first understand the text, then adapt such agreements for their individual purposes. Addressing those issues most frequently raised, this book comes complete with the text of sections found in a typical NDA with accompanying commentary and negotiating tips that may prove helpful when reviewing or negotiating any NDA. From the issuers objectives to the interests of the signer, this is a comprehensive look at the essential points around non-disclosure agreements and how one can shape them to meet their own best interests, whatever they may be.
