

Fossil Collecting Mazon Creek Pit 11: The Ultimate Field Guide

The Mazon Creek fossil bed refers to an area near Morris and Braidwood in Grundy County, Illinois where 300 million year old Carboniferous fossils of plants and animals can be found. The isolated area is one of only 3 sites in the world that host fossils of the Mid-Pennsylvanian Sub period, uniquely preserving rare soft-bodied organisms that would have otherwise decayed. The fossils were exposed and discovered in the early 1900s when the area was being strip mined for coal. It soon after became world-famous because of the quality and diversity of the fossils that were found. Today, in 2016, some of the area has turned into a mixed-use forest preserve that allows the collecting of these concretions from March 1 to September 30.

With an intense day of hiking and exploring, visitors can find and keep some hidden gems of their own. However, to take home these trophies, a prospector must traverse an overgrown landscape, cratered with deep lakes and thick underbrush, so overwhelming that many people leave empty handed. I created this guide book as a how-to for finding the elusive Mazon Creek fossil concretions that litter the forest. What you get in Fossil Collecting Mazon Creek Pit 11: The Ultimate Field Guide A brief history on Mazon Creek concretions and the strip coal mines 9 maps of secluded Mazon Creek Pit 11 collecting sites * Tips on searching Pit 11, what to look for and where to look A map to the location where I found a rare Tully Monster Notes on other fossil collecting areas in Grundy County
