State New Field, New Corn presents eight new essays on Alabama legal history from the pre-Civil War era through the Civil Rights era. These elegant and novel chapters survey a broad spectrum, from economics, race, education, and professional concerns of lawyers, to plain old legal doctrine, to show how those variables affected the states development. These essays reveal why we need intensive studies of American law at the state and county level in the 19th and 20th centuries. For they demonstrate that law is embedded in our culture. These invite many other studies, from the county level on up, in other states, to demonstrate how law lies at the center of nations history. They reaffirm my faith that there are many, many fascinating stories left to tell about our nations journey towards fulfilling the promises of law. Alfred L.

Brophy Judge John J. Parker Distinguished Professor of Law, University of North Carolina Chapel Hill Author, Reparations: Pro and Con (2006) and Reconstructing the Dreamland: The Tulsa Race Riot of 1921, Race Reparations, and Reconciliation (2002) Alabama legal history can be surprising.
