

Addressing Global Environmental Challenges from a Peace Ecology Perspective (The Anthropocene: Politik_Economics_Society_Science)

Addressing global environmental challenges from a peace ecology perspective, the present book offers peer-reviewed texts that build on the expanding field of peace ecology and applies this concept to global environmental challenges in the Anthropocene. Hans Gunter Brauch (Germany) offers a typology of time and turning points in the 20th century; Juliet Bennett (Australia) discusses the global ecological crisis resulting from a tyranny of small decisions; Katharina Bitzker (Canada) debates the emotional dimensions of ecological peacebuilding through love of nature; Henri Myrntinen (UK) analyses preliminary findings on gender, peacebuilding and climate change in Honduras while Ursula Oswald Spring (Mexico) offers a critical review of the policy and scientific nexus debate on the water, energy, food and biodiversity nexus, reflecting on security in Mexico. In closing, Brauch discusses whether strategies of sustainability transition may enhance the prospects for achieving sustainable peace in the Anthropocene.
