

H. L. A. Harts book, The Concept of Law, is perhaps the single greatest contribution to the field of legal philosophy in this century. Hart lays the groundwork for the continued progress in the perennial debate between legal positivism and natural law. This book briefly reviews the historic significance of that debate and demonstrates how Hart paves the way for an enlightened analysis of the tenuous relationship between law and morality. It provides a detailed examination of Harts efforts to establish a legal framework through primary and secondary rules and an ultimate rule of recognition. It focuses specifically on Harts reliance on the «internal perspective» as a means of establishing the form of obligation necessary for a legal system. It examines Harts treatment of the relationship between law and morality and Harts mischaracterization of St. Thomas Aquinas natural law theory.
