protocols in writing their reports, the field of law has its rules too called Legal Citation. Basically, its the way you identify a statute or court case so the reader can find the source material very quickly.
In Canada, the standard guide is the four main classes of legal literature in Canada: 1.) The Constitution of Canada, the paramount law of the land. All federal and provincial statutes must not violate the Constitution. The Constitution defines the division of power between the provinces and the federal government and defines the rights that people have in their dealings with the government through the Charter of Rights and Freedoms. The Constitution comprises case law as well as the formal documents. It also has some more informal conventions. 2.) Legislation: The statutes and regulations that have been made by both
