

Telecommunications: The Eu Law

The telecommunications sector in the EU is in a period of rapid change, following enactment of legislation. This is a practical sourcebook of texts with commentary for practitioners, in-house lawyers, consultants and regulators involved in telecommunications in Europe. The authors provide introductions to key elements of the framework, such as: interconnection, universal service, equal access and national regulatory authorities. The book provides immediate, convenient and comprehensive access to the essential provisions that govern and shape the telecommunications industry.
