

Trials and Tribulations

Medical malpractice has become a hot issue in our litigious society. The trial lawyers are locked in battle with the doctors, while the politicians and the patients look on. This is about one skirmish in that battle, told by one of the casualties. Donald Austin, M.D., was a well-respected neurosurgeon, operating at the cutting edge of medical technology. He was justly regarded as an expert in the field, and as such gave testimony for the defense in many malpractice lawsuits. When he was shocked by some instances of malpractice however, and decided to testify for plaintiffs also, he did not bargain for what ensued. As his testifying became known, his professional colleagues and the medical societies carried out a smear campaign that has ended his professional career.
