

GROUPWORK (RINGBINDER) (Transferable & Learning Skills)

This teaching resource provides practical activities to cover all the practical skills that students will need in order to work effectively as part of a group. Students are increasingly expected to work on projects, prepare seminars and carry out practical laboratory tasks in groups. The text includes 50 varied student activities for tutors to help students work through to grasp and practice the main principles of successful group work. A number of case-study and real life examples from undergraduate experiences in a range of subject areas are also included.
